DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, 14-21, drawn to a container, classified in class 206, subclass 503.
- II. Claims 11 and 12, drawn to an apparatus for making a container, classified in class 29, subclass 33R .
- III. Claim 13, drawn to a method of making a container, classified in class 29, subclass 592.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product as claimed could be made by a materially and different process. The container would be formed by molding or casting.

Inventions I and II are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this circumferential formation could be formed in the container as it is molded, i.e. by a static mold.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Upon election of Group I above further election is required as set forth below.

- A. Claims 1-10 and 21, drawn to a container, classified in class 206, subclass 503.
- B. Claims 14-16, drawn to a base for a container, classified in class 248, subclass 127.
- C. Claims 17-20, drawn to a container body, classified in class 220, subclass 604.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not claim the "generally circularly shaped rim" or the inside surface having a convex projection". The subcombination has separate utility such as being a paperweight, or a throwing toy.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does require the circumferential formation is concave. The subcombination has separate utility such as a paperweight or a throwing toy.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
